

Letters to the Editor

Dear Michael Malinski,

I'm your biggest fan. Ever since I read your first article in the Coydon about the pros and cons of fake and real Christmas trees, I knew there was something special about you. I searched online for your image and fell in love all over again. This time not just with what's inside your head but what was outside of it too. Your piercing blue eyes, and blushy brown brows touched my soul. I am, have, and always will be a reader of the Corydon newspaper, but you hold a special place in my heart.

Your Secret Admirer

I Should Call My Girlfriend

If I'm being quite honest here, opinions are a snooze. If you guys were real reporters, you would stick to facts and forget the editorial page altogether. When I'm in the mood to hear biased opinions backed up with faulty facts I just call my girlfriend and start a conversation. I want to hear about REAL news. The latest celebrity affairs, who wore it best on the red carpet, the latest Soap Opera drama... you get the picture.

Al K. Seltzer
Grade 8

Dear Michael's Malinski's Secret Admirer

I would love to have someone talk to me the way you talk about Michael. If that whole thing doesn't work out, meet me under the bleachers on April 2 at 2:45, I'd love to grab lunch and pick at your brain. The secret admirer now has a secret admirer :)

Michael's Secret Admirers' Secret Admirer

The Sacred Text

You have just completely blown me away in astronomical proportions. The paper, the text, the illustrations, could only be created by a cosmic being as mere mortals could not possibly fathom the immensity of this sacred text. I have come to the conclusion that it is you that we reside in, you are the Earth, the universe, You. Are. Everything.

Noah Denno
Grade 12

New Research Will Knock Your Socks Off

By Ramen Noodles
Asst. Editor

Where in the heck is that matching sock? Many people all over the world experience the mismatched sock phenomena. It has been discovered that, in fact, your sock is not lost. It is you who are lost. Becoming so obsessed with finding the other sock causes ordinary people to become trapped in some imaginary world. This is otherwise known as Mediis Soccus (sock in Latin) Syndrome. People with this condition are always looking for things that aren't there. The cause of Mediis Soccus Syndrome is likely because of the lack of organization in the person's life or an unknown entity that affects the person. Another theory is that the second sock you think you are looking for doesn't even exist. Time and time again you have glanced over the single sock in your drawer, and this has led you to believe that the sock's partner exists. Yet in reality, your sock is lonely and single. While there is no known cure as of now, scientists are working to find your sock every day.

An Obituary for Dead Memes

By Dunder Mifflin
Editorial Editor

R.I.P. Rick Roll memes 2007- 2018
"Never Gonna Give You Up" was the best song of the 80's and the biggest troll in the 2000's. The catchy song got old after the fifth time but it was always great to bring up to annoy your friends. Thank you, Rick Roll, for all the times you were there when we didn't want you there and you will never be forgotten.

R.I.P. All the "Epic Fail" memes 2005- 2018
"Epic Fail" memes were short and simple and exploited all the hilariously stupid things people did that were caught on camera. They brightened our mood and made us feel better about ourselves. Thank you to the "Epic Fail" memes for showing us how stupid humanity can be

Y We Do'nt Kneed English

By May May
Asst. Editor

At our school, wee have to take maney diferent clases. We have to take math clase and histore clase which are both prety useless, but the most uzeles of all is English. The first reeson y wee shuld get ridd of English clase is becus ther is no reeson for us to lern gramer. We dont need to lern gramer to speek a language as long as we are able to speek it and undertand it. The second reeson y wee dont need English clase is becus it is boring.

We have to sit ther for a ful 90 minuts of our lives and doo nothing but be bord. If the sud-ints are bord, they are not listning to what the teecher is saying, wich means they are not lerning anything. Ther is no point in teeching us if wee are not lerning. The last reeson y wee shuld get ridd uf English is becus studints dont like the clase. If we dont like it, then y shuld be have to take it. These are the reesons y I think wee shuld get rid of English clase and based on wat I said, Im shur you agre with mee to. We al now that this is a usles subject and a wast of a clas period.

Confessions of a Prodigy

By Fred DeFish
Co-Editor-in-Cheif

I, a well-known student at this school, have led both the varsity basketball and football teams at once, won prom king for the last three years, and once brought a harmonica to school. I have a confession. I used to buy other people's homework to work on for my own pleasure. Now I know what you are thinking, why would I buy others' homework to do it for them? Shouldn't I be paid instead for the work I do? But I say why not? I originally took French at Millikan; however, through my dedication to do homework from other classes, I am now fluent in four languages. Seben? Das habe ich gemeint. Je suis d cent dans tout cela. Peccato che non conosca lo spagnolo. Not to mention, since my older siblings made me do their AP

Why Not Just 3D Print Our Teachers?

By Cathy Brownstein
Asst. Editor

Schools need to face the facts: teachers cost money. However, there is an alternative solution in the 3D printer. 3D printers are a better investment because teachers are constantly retiring, quitting, and being fired. 3D printers are trustworthy and they will never walk out on a job. Scientists at the University of Alababama, have found that you can print humans. This is great because paper people can be programed to say and do whatever we need them to do. This way Millikan can program teachers to say a year's worth of lessons. It would cost us less money and it would make curriculum consistent. No more vague answers to students' questions because we can program teachers to answer questions as directly as possible. Say goodbye to homework because we can program teachers to fit everything necessary into a class period. 3D printers are advancing and so should our teachers. We might not end up with great grades or an award-winning reputation, but we would have a 3D printer and that's pretty cool.

and bringing quick laughs as we scrolled through our social media feed because we had nothing better to do on a Friday night.
R.I.P. Keyboard Cat Memes 2009-2018
Our feline friend, Bento, has passed in the middle of March at the age of 9. You will always be remembered as the original cat meme which led to many others such as the "Can I has cheeseburger cat" and Grumpy Cat.

Thank you for being the most popular meme amongst mothers who just figured out Facebook.
R.I.P. Bad Luck Brian Memes 2012-2018
The boy with the blue polo and the red sweater vest charmed us all as this meme legend set the standard for many memes to come. Some of his memes included, "Goes surfing for the first time... hurricane," or, "Receives note from crush... restraining order."

How to Win an Argument With a Girl

By Keeny McCormick
Jock Editor

You can't.

Statistics homework when I was in ninth grade, I understood my math classes more than I could have ever imagined, which allowed me to challenge the AP test when I was a measly freshman. When I got my statistics test results back, I recieved a 5. I knew I had to go further. Sophomore year I focused on junior and senior year English homework and I was able to challenge both AP English tests and got a 4 and 5 for each respectively. Over time I did this with every subject I could think of. Currently I take three AP classes but challenged and passed 12. I am a perfect example of a man with dedication who doesn't take no for an answer. I do realize now, though, that I am completely broke. If you know you or your loved ones' social security number and banking password, please email cavemansquidward@gmail.com.

The Corydon discourages anyone from writing letters. Your opinions are nice and all, but we're swamped with work over here. You may discuss it with your friends, but we don't want to hear about it. Let us do our thing, you do yours, and we shall go our separate ways. Thank you.

Corydon Now Online at <http://smarturl.it/AstleySpotify>
Download Rick's Number 1 album "50" - <https://BMG...>

Co-Editors-in-Chief
Fred DeFish
Lion Mane
What' New Editor
Stale Brownies
Uselss Opinions Editor
Dunder Mifflin
The Third Page Editor
Freedna N. Malls
Jock Central Editor
Keney McCormick

Web Editor
Sally White
Photography Editor
Mr. Meeseeks
Copy Editor
Woke M.D.
Journalism Adviser
Paws Cathheart
Administrative Adviser
Shannon Williams-Young
Printer
Gardena Valley News

Assistant Editors
Ramen Noodles
Puff Boi
May May
KROF Mac-and-cheese™®
Pink Cupcake
La India Maria
Cathy Brownnstein
Lil' Yotey
Jane Adams
Lisa Neucar

Staff Reporters
Susan Smith
Toast
Secret
Pingo
Taquito
Kool Math Games
Patty Wack
Egg
Mr. Newspaper Man
Charlie Garbonzo
Cat Zuki
Loki Laufeyson

Corydon Staff

Cor y don (Kor/iden) n. In pastoral literature a name for a shepherd or rustic

Now in Our 600th Year of Publication

Bye-Bye, Fish!

By Freeda N. Malls
Feature Editor

The Aquarium of the Specific has always been a place where anyone can go, see, and educate themselves on marine life. Due to complaints of animal cruelty, all animals have been released into the ocean. “I think it was a great idea,” says Olivia Sanders. “It’s about time Long Beach takes measures to prevent animal endangerment.” However, not everyone thinks this is a good idea. Ryen George stated, “Although I understand the intentions, you can’t just release captive animals into the wild. They will literally all die.” People watched employees dump the aquatic life into the ocean right next to the aquarium on March 25. It was an event that drew the attention of many families. “My child just loved to watch the animals swim away. They looked so happy!” says McKenzie Coffman. Some people have expressed concerns of having thousands of new marine life introduced to waters surrounding Long Beach, especially the sharks and jellyfish. However, the Aquarium of the Specific says that the animals will eventually make their way deeper into the ocean. The aquarium also stated they will continue to keep their doors open, offering other ways to teach children about aquatic life, such as diagrams, movies, and simulations. Whether or not people support the Aquarium of the Specific’s decision, they have flocked to the Long Beach waters to watch the amazing creatures co-exist.

Free Food + Freedom

By La India Maria
Staff Reporter

Guess what, Millikan Rams? From April 16 to the end of the year, lunch will now be an hour long! Along with that, students will get a lunch pass to go off campus. You don’t have to bring lunch or eat the food from the cafeteria, because all students will get a pin to buy free food from McDonalds, Jack-in-the-Box, Flame Broiler, Flippin Pizza, John’s Burgers, and more! Just show your lunch pass to the CSO’s and you will allowed to leave. If you lose this pass you will lose the opportunity to leave campus and get free food, and will only be able to get a replacement at the start of the new semester. No money or permission from guardians needed for this lunch pass, and no transportation is needed because all the free food locations are right around the corner Millikan. So there shouldn’t be any excuses why you didn’t eat lunch. Passes will be distributed on Saturday, April 31.

What Are You in for This Month?

By Lisa Neucar
Asst. Copy Editor

Aries: You’re bound to experience plenty of opportunities for expansion due to the rare two full moons this month. Maybe launch an Etsy store or something. Also make sure to get a lot of sleep and spend time doing anything but being productive because Mercury and Jupiter are in retrograde. Efficiency? Productivity? Who needs it? Not you Aries! Taurus: Two little words for you this month, Love and money. Hopefully you’ll find both, but who really knows. Gemini: What’s in it for you, Gemini? Apparently love and money as well, but not without drama. That’s right, it’s your month to be a diva. Enjoy it while it lasts. Cancer: Technically you should probably take some time to reflect on how you really feel about things, but why do that when you could be out looking for love and money? Leo: Maybe take some privacy this month, due to retrograde or something. Virgo: Beyoncé is a Virgo, Zendaya is a Virgo, and Michael Jackson was a Virgo, so in other words, the microphone is in your hands this month--and every other month. Virgos are just legendary, so do whatever you want. The stars predict love and money for you, but honestly, when do they not? Libra: Time to start working on that summer body, Libra! Or don’t, if pizza is more your thing. This is the month to be productive and possibly to find love and money. Scorpio: Ah, the lovely, spicy Scorpio. Time for an early case of spring fever! Maybe start obsessively cleaning stuff and wearing less clothing even though its still 40 degrees out in the morning. Sagittarius: The hardest sign to spell. This is not the month for serious business. This is the month to spend with good people doing good things, like helping you find love and money. Capricorn: Sorry, Capri-sun, it’s looking like this is bound to be a month full of thinking for you. Thinking about love and money, that is. Aquarius: Nothing good about Aquarius is ever in the media, or anywhere, for that matter. Lucky for you, that’s about to change because this month will bring - you guessed it! Love and money! Pisces: Ah, gentle Pisces (apologies to everyone with a masculinity complex). It’s looking like you’ll find love this month, but only love, not money. Sucks for you, Pisces. Maybe next time.

CLUB FEATURE Swipe to Enter the Emoji Movie Club

By Cat Zuki
Staff Reporter

Oh! There is a new club with new members called the Emoji Movie Club. The club president, Gene Meh, says, “With every meeting we have, we always have three to five new faces that join us. We watch about 10 minutes of the movie then discuss the movie’s majesty for 20 minutes. We have watched the full movie 15 times! Occasionally, we argue about whether the character, Jail-Break is the best girl protagonist. That’s a full-on debate on its own.” This club meets every Friday during lunch in Room 957. They also meet up at the club president’s house to watch the movie in its entirety.

Sketchy Snapchat

By Secret
Staff Reporter

Snapchat has done it again. That’s right, take some time to process this devastating, yet unsurprising, update. Taking effect in April, it is rumored that Snapchat will be updating their app into something even worse from today’s current update. Snapchat’s new update features contain the ability to join and see other friends’ conversations and all their memories saved by simply tapping on a person’s bitmoji or profile. In addition to this monstrosity, pictures and videos sent to a person or group will no longer disappear and will remain in the chatbox forever. The launch of this update will leave all users in agony.

The Return of Vine

By Lil’ Yotey
Asst. Editor

News broke this morning via Twitter of Vine’s long-awaited return. After the popular entertainment app was discontinued early last year, fans waited impatiently for the speculated release of “Vine 2”. This altered version of the program was never completed, and instead, a tweet was posted earlier today that blew the minds of Vine-lovers across the nation. “<https://youtu.be/gT-VceHKvwSU>” was the YouTube link tweeted out by Vine’s original creator, Ron Cough-man. The video features an official announcement of Vine’s return, along with a link to its download on IOS and Android. The resurrected app still has all of its original features, along with a few minor improvements. Viners can even get back their old accounts from before the shut-down, restoring their uploads, re-posts, and number of followers. Users now have the ability to rate vines for their content and creativity, voting on “Viner of the Week” and other contests. The Vine community has once more embraced its beloved app with open arms, and its ratings continue to skyrocket.

Get Your Head in the Game

By Ethan Dolan
Staff Reporter

Get excited because ‘High School Musical 4’ is finally making its debut. Aspara Gus, caterer of the High School Musical series, officially announced that a fourth movie is in the making. Gus is super excited to film, but unfortunately he stated, “Tac Saffron is unable to be in the fourth movie; however, all other cast members will be the same. If you are interested, auditions are on April 31 to be the new Tac Saffron.” They are looking for someone who portrays Tac Saffron so it looks like he never left. They want someone who looks exactly like him, which means a six-pack, arms with huge muscles, and looks that cause girls to swoon. Come show off your talent on April 31 at the Dolby Theatre in Hollywood to become the next Tac Saffron.

Spring Has Sprung!

S C A A C S M O B A Q T O R L
E V W D L A X J Q V H E O S C
O B V R Z Q Q G P E H A K T D
M N W V H W T C I W R L C C G
R M M W J E J O T Q W T A L K
B S Q R V R H O G M V L Y O P
T C M J A F I R T T R S C U N
D I N W Q L N F R F W K R U L
V I E H J E Y V L E P S E S R
I J Q K C W Q C U W R U A A I
B V A O I E T A S K Y B I I I
Z U G W I R E X P Q Y I B Y J
U R X G W B I O U E C U L W E
R I R P T U E I O B R B Q H N
A A Z D M F B R Z T A E B E B

SPRING
APRIL
CHOCOLATE
SHOWERS

EASTER RABBIT
BREAK JOKES

FLOWER
EGGS BASKET
GRASS

Physical Education Classes Go on Vacation

By La India Maria
Staff Reporter

Students enrolled in P.E. are tired and annoyed about swimming, running miles and doing push-ups every other day of the week. Therefore, physical education will be eliminated from Millikan High School on April 32, 2018. Instead of physical education, students will be able to take another elective or just have another unscheduled period. Physical education won't affect our future anyway, so the class isn't necessary. We figure that learning how to play every single sport wouldn't do us any good. Plus P.E. messes up some non-athletic students' 4.0 G.P.A, so why torture a student with a B or lower in PE class? Students never really put effort into P.E anyways; might as well do something more productive during that hour and a half of pure sweat and torture.

Students Paid to Play

By Wax Daddy
Staff Reporter

It is official. As of April 1, 2018, high school athletes will be paid $250 per season. This comes after years of heated debate. Dr. Karen DeWorld, long time sports attorney and student athlete activist, stated, "This resolution has been long overdue and finally gives these kids what they rightfully deserve." Some are extremely wary about this change, for the threat it may pose on the purity of the game. Hannah Torres, four time national champion and 30-year coach of soccer at University of DeLucca, says, "When you give all these darn rascals money to play the game, they will forget that they really play: for the love of the game. Thus, the integrity of the game is lost!" No matter which side you stand for, without a doubt, the money will have an immense impact on college athletes' fighting for similar terms.

ESports Engage Millikan Athletes

By KoolMathGames
Staff Reporter

Are you tired of PE every year, but not good enough to join a sport? Well now there's something new coming to Millikan. ESports are video games played competitively throughout a community, usually in a group. Some play for entertainment but others play when there is something at stake like cash or other prizes. Examples of current popular eSports are League of Legends, Counter Strike Global Offensive, and Overwatch. The reason why esports are being added is due to the complaints from students about how after two years of required PE, they want to do something for fun, but not a physically active sport. That is why eSports is the perfect idea. You do not need to be physically active and you can have lots of fun with the people you play with. George Bobby says, "I love the idea of Millikan adding eSports. I feel like it would bring many people together and allow everyone to have fun." ESports will be coming to Millikan some time next year, in April 2019.

New Scootering Team Breaks a Leg

By Mr.Newspaper Man
Staff Reporter

Long Beach Unified School District introduces a new sport: extreme scootering. The tryouts were held on February 30, where coach Tony Eagle carefully chose the team of talented scooterers who could do amazing tricks, such as "tailwhips". Unfortunately, during their first practice of the year, many talented scooterers were injured, usually with extreme damage to the ankle bone. "Yeah, last week we lost another member of our team. He's hurt pretty bad," varsity scooterer Jawn Cena, says. "He's in a wheelchair and everything, but I guess that's just the risk taken when joining this sport." "We're hoping we don't lose the rest of our team members. The remaining team is drinking milk so their bones get stronger to withstand the collisions with the metal," coach Tony Eagle states. "They always strive to learn new tricks for competition, but they keep getting gnarly injuries. I know it's not just Millikan struggling with this issue."

New Dress Code for Girls Swim

By Susan Smith
Staff Reporter

Code #6479280 states that every girl participating in Millikan swim or water polo must wear full body length swim suits that cover every inch of their bodies. This new policy has caused an uproar across the Millikan swim and water polo community. "I think this new code will let us girls really focus on swim and water polo and not on our bodies, which will really help us," says QUEST senior Kanye Weast. This dress code will be enforced as soon as possible. "I am really excited for this new dress code," says PEACE sophomore Taylor Quick. "I will finally be able to focus on just my swimming." Code #6479280 will eventually be enforced in all high schools across the nation.

Golf Girls Reveal Secrets to Success

Lisa Neucar
Asst. Editor

For Millikan's medal-winning girls golf team the grind never stops. The girls practice for their matches Monday through Thursday-a grueling four days a week. Each practice lasts for an excruciating 16 hours and consists of heavy weight lifting, long distance running of seventeen miles, and bench-pressing ten thousand pounds with their golf clubs in their mouths. This training is intense and year-round, as the golf team does not have an off season. They continue to compete in tournaments around the world. After the Moore League season ends, the team will compete in Australia. The Australian Open Event is on May 32, and is where the team will look to defend their title as champs. Before competing in tournaments, athletes have to be careful not to miss practice or they will be permanently shunned by the golf community and will be chased around campus by armed men riding coyotes until they agree to pay an eight thousand dollar fine. "You deserve to be fined for missing practice," says team member MacDonald Berger. "It's more than a game. Golf is a lifestyle. And if you don't understand that, you can get out. Golf is love, golf is life." Sacrifices must be made in order to ensure that the girls golf team prevails in all of their endeavors. Every shot is taken into account, and every swing could make or break their reputation in golf circles.

Hide and Seek Comes to Millikan, Ready or Not

By Ramen Noodles
Asst. Editor

In the near future, Millikan High School will introduce their very own hide and seek team. Tryouts were held all over campus that required students to hide until they were found. Due to the number of professionals who tried out, they lasted through the night. The coaches are still unsure if everybody has been found. According to team captain,

Red Bruno, "Hide and seek takes a lot of skill. You need that endurance, stamina, and patience to last through a game. Not everyone is lucky enough to be as good as me." The team's first game is expected to be sometime next month.

