

Roving Reporter: Cowboy Hat Feelings

Page 2

Looking for Talent: Extras Needed

Page 3

Millikan Dunk Squad: Ball Is Life

Page 4

Big Foot Sets His Foot in Foot Locker

By Maiden French Fry
Meme

After about 50 years of odd blurry photos, there is finally an actual totally real sighting of the mythological creature Big Foot.

A woman named Biggie Smalls, a 20-year veteran at Foot Locker, discovered him.

On Thursday night, in Bigville, Kansas, Smalls says she was busy restocking the shoe display in front of the store when she heard a big crash.

Smalls said she ran to the back expecting to see a fallen display but instead sighted Bigfoot.

Smalls said, "At first I thought it was a big hair ball that happened to just maybe grow out of thin air, but then when I looked a little harder, I realized the poor thing was trying to get his foot inside of a size 23. I said to myself, 'This here be that Big Foot!'"

Smalls says she quickly got out her camera phone to take a picture, but she was so excited she ended up dropping it midway through the snap, scaring the creature. He quickly darted out the back door into the woods behind the store.

But Smalls wouldn't be deterred so she quickly followed him out and managed to get a blurry snap of him (see the picture attached).

Smalls posted a picture of her rare finding on Instagram and captioned it, "I'm rich, I'm rich. Bill Gates has nothing on me!"

After just 30 minutes, Smalls says she received over 900 calls from famous new agencies, including TZN and CMM, offering her millions for her rare picture.

Smalls says, "Although I'm rich now it doesn't stop the fact that Big Foot is real and he is in dire need of a shoe fitting."

The hunt for Big Foot is very real, and many hunters are closing in.

PHOTO COURTESY OF BIGGIE SMALLS

This is Bigfoot's most recent spotting on the outskirts of the Kansas town after fleeing Foot Locker in a futile attempt to find himself some fresh j's. Unfortunately he could not find a bigger size for his enormous size 28 feet.

THE CURIOUS CASE OF TIM MULLVEHILL

PHOTO BY 2SPOOKY4ME

Tim Mullvehill's last photo evidence of him at Millikan High School, in a heated debate about the reasons behind the start of the Cold War. He was last spotted venturing through the tombs of Egypt.

By Fedora Lover
Moderator

Tragically, one of Millikan's finest has left us. Timothy Mulvehill, the beloved QUEST AP World History teacher, has not been at school for the past few days, so and investigation is underway.

Anonymous sources report that Mulvehill may have been murdered, possibly by a fellow AP History teacher, but let's not make assumptions.

Mulvehill has been a teacher at Millikan for 46 years, and has been moderately popular for some of them. He taught AP World History in Room 832 which will now be converted into a Millikan gift store.

In remembrance of Mulvehill, students are encouraged to wear blue button up shirts, along with khaki pants and brown shoes. These items can all be bought in the gift store, Room 832.

Tax Preparation to Be Integrated Into Students' Classes

By Lizard King
King-Of-Memes

Every student in an advanced math class has at some point stopped doing his or her work and wondered, "When will I ever use this in my life? Why do I know how to complete the square but I'm not sure how to balance a checkbook or get a loan on a car? How will parabolas help me with my liberal arts degree? When is lunch again?"

The state has listened to students and decided to act by giving the curriculum more real life qualities.

New Common Core standards will show students and teachers how to complete their taxes, as it is something most Americans are confused about.

"Wait. What? I thought only adults paid taxes? Or, wait, no, isn't it when you buy something and have to have like, an extra quarter?" asked a confused QUEST junior. "Why do I have to pay them again? Wait, there's also income tax?

What, does that mean?" All questions will be answered in the new required lessons.

The new standards will show students how to complete 2210 spreadsheets, how to receive their rebates, and how to not be fined or imprisoned for fraud.

"I'm really excited for this because I don't even know how riculum at the start of the fall semester to align with Common Core requirements.

Students will be taught in their economics, pre-calculus, intermediate algebra, geometry, and English 3-4 classes.

An anonymous world history teacher has added, "I might actually observe the class because I have no idea what I'm doing when I do my taxes either. I always assumed they would teach it to you in college but they didn't so I assumed it was too easy to do but its not that way either. I just bought Turbotax and prayed I wasn't going to be visited by the IRS later in the year."

Many students also shared their thoughts on the new standards. "Wow this is really cool! I can't wait to learn how to properly pay the government my every last cent that wasnt used to pay for neccesities while the rich get tax cuts!" said a libertarian student who has started a club to give control of the school to the students.

Dear Editor

Irish Potatoes Unfunny

I don't mean to be rude but the cartoons for the newspaper are seriously lacking. They are not funny enough to distract the student population from the struggle to make it through the day without a laugh.

Personally, the drawings are something I could do. They are simple and unoriginal. A two year old could have drawn a leprechaun.

Please make the cartoons funnier in the future or the paper will lose its readers. It will lose me for sure.

Unable to Laugh
Grade 12

It's All About the Musical!

Greetings to the Corydon!

I have to say, I am quite unimpressed with your interpretation on the best event of the year, the school musical.

Everyone in the entire world knows that 'Little Shop of Horrors' is like, the best musical ever, and I'm like, all about 80s musicals.

Yes, your magnificent shot of Seymor and Audrey on the front page is overwhelming, but I want more! I'm all about romantic, creepy plots about plants that eat people so keep in mind that I wouldn't have minded at all if the front page had been all dedicated to the musical.

Your Favorite Drama Freak
Grade 11

/R/CorydonLateAgain

I simmmppllly love your newspaper. I wait every month to receive the new issue. I wake up at 4:30 a.m. at the end of every month just to be the first one to see the Corydon being dropped off.

But do you know what really grinds my gears? Receiving the issue really late.

That makes me... angry. Really angry. So ANGRY that it makes me want to (explicit content). Yeah that's right I'm going to make you... (Due to the standards of the Corydon we cannot reveal any inappropriate content that indicates voodoo, torture, or how to do fedora tricks). This will happen to you if the issue doesn't come out on time.

Other than that, I love your newspaper. Great work! DON'T MAKE ME GO THROUGH THE WAIT AGAIN!!

Corydon_Lover_56
Grade 3

Roving Reporter: What Are Your Thoughts on Cowboy Hats Becoming Mandatory School Uniform?

Millikan's administrators have decided to add fashionable cowboy hats to the uniform policy in a way to connect with students more. Students were asked what they thought of the new uniform requirement, see what they said.

Freshmen: Emily Torres

"I mean its not that bad"

Sophomore: Chelsea Orellana

"This is awkward"

Junior: Benjamin Leon

"Yeeehaaw"

Senior: Adrian Cruz

"I can rock this"

Free College Funding For Millikan Seniors

By Regina George

Meme

Earlier this week, President Brobama announced that the graduating class of 2015 at Millikan High School is eligible to receive a full ride scholarship to ANY college of their choice.

LBSUD had to make a lot of sacrifices for the seniors. However, there is still a price to pay for "free college". This is goes hand in hand with the reduced prices of AP tests this school year. The district plans to help students in any way they can.

To earn this scholarship, students must write a five-page essay about how cool their mom is and include a photo of themselves doing a cool skateboard trick.

They must also read the essay out loud in front of the student body without any emotion. If any emotion is shown, such as a grin or chuckle, then they will be disqualified from receiving the scholarship by having a secret compartment pulled from underneath them, placing them in the Underground Cave 2: Electric Boogaloo.

There is also an alternative way to earn the scholarship, though it is extremely different from the traditional way to apply.

Students can create a video imitating Rick Astley's "Never Going To Give You Up", The Lonely Island's "Like a Boss", or "I'm on a Boat" music video.

Students must also upload the video onto YouTube and receive at least 300 million views within one week. Failure to receive 300 million views within a week will result in the disabling of the device from which the video was uploaded.

The application is due by 13:13 on April 31, 2015.

Fedoras and Neck Beards: The Circle of Life

By 2spooky4me

Moderator

Fedoras and neck beards. People must aspire to have these. Fedoras and neck beards are frowned upon by 99 percent of the world's population, but the world will soon come to adore them.

Fedoras, for example, are setting a new trend that adds style to clothing and apparel. Given that fedoras were very popular in the 20s through the 50s, it only makes sense that wearing them makes you as macho and good-looking as it made those men that wore them years ago.

Now, just imagine how classy you would look with a pair of jeans, your Quicksilver T-shirt, and a brand spanking new fedora. Whether it be red, blue, or black, its known that fedoras make you 92 percent better looking while wearing one, according to statistics from fedora experts at UC Berkeley.

Dr. Shamalan Ivonov of

"...most people who don't use fedoras go into depression into their late twenties and never have stable relationships."

-Dr Shamalan Ivonov

UCLA states that most people who don't use fedoras go into depression into their late twenties and never have stable relationships.

People who say that fedoras are "ridiculous" and that "the style died years ago" just don't understand what they are doing to themselves.

Fedoras are not only for style, but also act as an SPF 200 sunscreen for your head, which is especially effective for those of us fellows lacking a full mane of hair.

Fedora users are also found to have a higher income. However, neck beards are also the epitome of style, and combined with a fedora, there is nothing you can't achieve.

Neck beards are the upper class of all facial hair. The beard wraps around the bottom of your face and it adds that manly complexity that women love. Just think of famous actors such as Shia LaCoolNeckBeard and Daniel RadNeckBeardBro. The power of both the fedora and neck beard grants the user over 9000 karma points.

Not only does the combination of the neck beard and fedora give you tons of karma points, it may also get you gilded by an active and generous user, such as myself, who may accommodate your conformity with some good 'ole reddit gold, that can be used to give your avatar a fresh fedora and neck beard of your liking.

Corydon Staff

M' LADY- How do you do My Lady!
Now in Our 400th Year of Publication

King of Memes Lizard King	Console Peasant Weaboo Jones	Memes Maiden French Fry Percy Jackson BlankSpace Anonymous Regina George Blue Eyes Slim Shady Glen Coco
Queen of Memes Anonymous	Moderators Sample Text Bill Brasky FedoraLover
Admin PamCakes	Hacker Canadian Idiot	Burt Macklen FBI 2spooky4me

The Corydon encourages its readers recognize that this issue of the Corydon (Issue 6) is one of satire and irony. The Corydon does not condole the wearing of fedoras and or neck beards and is against the use of memes and reddit if not for irony. No animals were harmed in the making of this newspaper.

Corydon Now Online
at lbmillikan.schoolloop.com
/Corydon

COMPASS Capstone Parties Turn Out To Be Regular Events, School Finds Out

PHOTO COUTESEY OF BLANK SPACE
WEST EGG - It turns out that the COMPASS Capstone members throw parties every Friday that last the whole weekend. They prefer Roaring 20's themed parties with gambling and bubbly drinks.

Looking for Talent

By 2spooky4me
Moderator

Talent for new sequels. Main roles and extras are needed for the upcoming blockbuster sequels of 2015. 'After Earth 2' is in production as it received rave reviews from critics and fans, numerous Oscar nominations, as well as an ever, growing fan base of role-players. Roles include Jeremiah Swagginton former role as Kitai Rage, as Jeremiah has moved on to other Oscar nominated roles, as well as being in development with 'Karate Kid 2,' the rebooted franchise. To be in this movie will take cunning and agility, as well as the infamous Jeremiah Swagginton eyebrow raise. 'Jack and Jill 2' is another film to be in production due to its critically acclaimed predecessor. Aaron Sandier is looking to revive his role and expand the story with another twin brother and sister, who will be cast at Millikan this month. Sandier says he wants an invigorating brother and sister who will "bring a new dynamic" to the already popular franchise. Al Pinocchio was a great addition to the movie, so the production team has decided to cast other has-been stars who fell off of the surface of the planet including Sam Worthington, Ford Truck, Josh Hornetsnest, and Frankie Munizses. Another big hit this year will be Q-Tip Tortellini's next big hit 'The Loving Nein' set in post-WWII Germany.

ATTENTION: Annoying Campus Changes About to Take Place

By FedoraLover
Moderator

For many students life at Millikan is about to change drastically. Unfortunately for those who have memorized the numbers on the buildings, they will soon have to begin again. Starting next month, (along with the annual school Hunger Games starting in 2015) the 800 Building will now be the 200 Building, the Bungalows will be labeled by cuneiform, the 300 Building will be the 900, the 400 will be split into the 600 and 100, and the 700 Building will now be the Timothy Mulvehill Memorial Building (Yet to be found). Although many students may object to these changes, the administration is confident that switching it up is best for everyone. New schedules will be issued along with maps for each student. These changes will obviously lead to some confusion during passing periods and students late to class will obviously be expelled. Administrators say that this change will become an annual event to help keep students' minds sharp and aware. The Hunger Games competition will star in early May with our first annual reaping.

Santa Claus Caught Red-Handed Stealing Easter Eggs

By Bill Brasky
Moderator

Kris Kringle, AKA Santa Claus, or his alias Nick, was caught trying to steal the Easter Bunny's eggs on March 31 as a way to stop his international droppings of eggs. Easter Day is on April 5. Claus allegedly tried to steal the bunny's eggs as a sign of revenge. Allegedly the cause of this attempted crime was triggered when the Easter Bunny drank all of Claus's eggnog and ate all of his cookies at the holiday get-together where the likes of Cupid, the Leprechaun, Saint-Patrick (or "Lucky" if you eat his cereal) Father Time, and the ghost of General Stonewall Jackson celebrated together. It was reported that those from the party snitched on Santa Claus (he previously told everyone about his plan) before he could steal the Bunny's eggs. "I would've gotten away with it if it weren't for those Christmas hating jerks and that hopping fool," said Claus. "Now none of them are getting gifts. Ever!" "Nick is a good guy," said the Easter Bunny. "I really wanted his eggnog and cookies and offered a trade. But I took it anyways and left him three chocolate eggs as a reimbursement. I never wanted it to come down like this though." Local police from Easter Island have reported that Claus had three other accomplices. However, their traces are close to unidentifiable as all that's left of evidence is deer droppings, a pumpkin, and clumps of snow. "The search is getting closer and closer," said Detective Hector Renteria, who has yet to capture the accomplices. "We've caught the leader and will interrogate him as soon as we get downtown. We are to believe that Claus leads a large holiday crime syndicate considering his high motive of keeping Christmas a top favorite holiday." This isn't the first time Claus has gotten into trouble though. Claus got into an altercation with some of the elves that worked for him in the North Pole. Apparently, Clause wanted to lay off some workers without their final pay. The elves sued and one year later lost because no one in the North Pole actually gets paid and the elves sign a contract for "voluntary work." Claus will be tired in the Omega Supreme Court as soon as possible and experts believe that he will get a sentence of six years and three years if he has good behavior.

PHOTO COURTESY OF THE FBI

In an attempt to move the focus of Easter back towards the biggest holiday in the United States--Christmas--Santa Claus has allegedly been caught stealing the Easter Bunny's eggs from his home in Santa Monica. Santa Claus's attorney, who has also fought for people like Lindsey Logan and Charlie Shun, says "Mr. Claus has nothing to add on the charges."

FIND BONUS STORIES AND VIDEOS ONLINE!
@lbmillikan.schoolloop.com/Corydon

Sky High with Millikan’s New Skydiving Class

By Blue Eyes
Memes

Millikan, after years of appealing to the school district, finally got the clearance for its brand new skydiving class. Headed by Millikan’s marching band instructor, Johnny Tartan, the class is looking for participants. “Skydiving is such a thrill!” says student leader and sky-diving instructor Eriq Dye. Flights take off every Monday and Friday at 9 a.m. Nearly 100 feet above the 800 Building, students are dropped, hurdling through the air at top speeds toward the newly-installed trampolines. MBA senior Jules Vernacular says, “Everyone should try it! It’s not every day you can get an A by plummeting toward your school from a plane.”

Really, Really, REALLY Fast Pitcher at Millikan

By Maiden French Fry
Memes

Millikan High School senior Sabe Tooth was recently proclaimed the world’s fastest pitcher in baseball. Tooth was given this award in March, prior to throwing a 1200 mph pitch at an All-Star game in February. Tooth said he doesn’t know how he pitches so fast. While flexing his throwing arm, he says, “It may be just cuz ima natural.” Many onlookers who happened to witness the pitch, claimed it was over in the blink of an eye and that it burned a hole right through the catcher’s hand. Of course there was medical assistance on site so there wasn’t much to worry about. But before the catcher was taken away, it was noted that he exclaimed, “Did you guys see that? That was so cool! Do it again!” When asked if he plans on playing baseball in the big leagues, Tooth simply stated, “Nah. Actually my passion isn’t in baseball. I really want to become a dentist.”

MilliWill Cheer Can Sure Bring It On

By Slim Shady
Memes

After losing the basketball game at Gnarly Waves High School, many of the MilliWill cheerleaders went insane from all the rude remarks and bad sportsmanship Gnarly Waves gave. The battles began and the cheerleaders started tearing out each other’s hair and pulling off their acrylics. A cheer off finally started, with Gnarly Waves’ cheer squad against the MilliWill squad. Watching this event was like watching ‘Bring It On in 2000’ all over again. Gnarly Waves’ cheerleaders went wild while MilliWill’s cheerleaders were fierce and had a look of crazy in their eyes. Stunt after stunt, cheer after cheer, MilliWill won the cheer off. After their performance of the dance ‘Old School,’ the girls knocked Gnarly Waves back into nowhere land. Gnarly Waves twerked in shame while MilliWill strutted out with the look of sass on their faces, and pride in their team.

Millikan Dunk Squad

PHOTO FROM BLACKSPORTSONLINE.COM
Dunker Dunkington dunking doubles during dunktime. (Ok I wasn’t even at the game so I pulled a picture from the Internet to assume how the game would’ve looked. I hope this doesn’t get me in trouble.)

By Sample Text
Moderator

Millikan’s varsity boys basketball team won against their rivals, the Los Angeles Hoopers. The final score ended 42-0. The Hoopers’ coach says, “I can’t believe that the Hoopers got dunked on. Number 12 [James Jamison] was crying on the floor because the players keep dunking on him.” “It was insane!” says Missy Steirious. “I’ve never witnessed 21 consecutive dunks on one single player before. It was truly a spectacle.” GREEN Academy senior Steward Pid says, “Dunking is my specialty. I practice dunking for four hours and 20 minutes every day. It’s rigorous training, but to be at my level of skill, you just got to practice constantly.” The Rams hope to continue this dunktacular streak against their next opponents the Easy Cheesy Macaroni Squad of Los Santa Claus on April 2 at the Easy Cheesy Macaroni Squad’s High school.

Quidditch Finals Cast a Spell of Controversy, Headmaster Not Pleased

By Percy Jackson
Memes

The COMPASS house has beaten the QUEST house by a score of HOLY MOTHER OF MOMS, THAT’S A LOT OF POINTS to zero. Despite the game going on for five days straight, the winning team was very enthusiastic about its victory. Team captain Gracie Robinson says, “EEEEEEEEEEEEEE! I ALWAYS WANTED TO BE ON A QUIDDITCH TEAM!” and proceeded to take a selfie while she flew on her broomstick. She then crashed. One of the beaters, Chase Husley, comments, “We tried our best and we won.” However, a bit of controversy surrounded the seeker, Sara Gerstman (who was previously unknown to the COMPASS community). She was accused of using a humongous butterfly net to catch the golden snitch.

For those of you who don’t know, the golden snitch is the golden ball that flies around the match faster than the eye can follow. It’s the seeker’s job to catch the snitch with his or her bare hands to end the match. Whichever team’s seeker catches the snitch earns their team a final 150 points. Gerstman, of course, denied the accusations even though everyone in the stadium saw it and booed. When ref Carrie Glose was asked about it, she merely said “Aw, cool! Did they catch any butterflies?” Needless to say, QUEST was broken-hearted. Team captain Smart Geniouson says, “Man! I knew I should’ve taken that eighth AP class instead of Quidditch!” The other members, upon losing, immediately began calculating the score and proposing arguments against it. The first being “Dude! What was with the butterfly net? AND HOW DID IT TAKE YOU FIVE DAYS TO CATCH SOMETHING WITH IT?” Many, if not all of the team members, created lengthy PowerPoints on the game and presented them to several positions of authority, including the President. The President made an official announcement on the matter on Sunday. His response was “I would like to ask only one question. What the heck is a Quidditch?” The Quidditch league is relatively new here at Millikan, and everyone is enthusiastic to join. The amazing players from the QUEST and COMPASS houses have been offered many scholarships to play for top Universities like Cal State Long Beach and San Diego State University.

Complete your Drivers Ed course at Captain Falcon’s Academy of Yes!

Only $2000 Dollars! Call (562) 07FO-FALCON PUNCH!

www.falconteendrivingacademy.gov

Jousting Arrives at Millikan’s Front Door

By Bill Brasky
Moderator

Jousting has been revived after its last appearance roughly 450 years ago. It will become an official, mandatory sport across all schools in the United States. Millikan will be one of many schools to participate in jousting competitions. Each school will have a set of three teams divided by skill, craftsmanship, and leadership. Students who try out must complete certain simple and easy requirements one of which is blacksmithing lances under the hot lava of Golden Trout Creek in the Toowa Toowa Valley. Training will include armor testing, lance building, horse taming, running 75-miles through Death Valley, and other activities. Also, with the addition of jousting competitions, stables will be added to each campus. This means that horses will provide a new attraction to students at Millikan.

